

Digital appendix 3. Extended fiction syndicated by Tillotson's Fiction Bureau and published in nineteenth-century Australian newspapers

Most data relating to Tillotson's Fiction Bureau in this table are derived from Law, Serialising, using titles and syndication dates in his tables "3.3 Expensive Tillotson's serials not appearing in the Bolton Journal in the 1890s" (89), "A.2 Serial fiction in the Bolton Weekly Journal, 1871–89" (222–227), "A.3 Serial fiction in the Age, 1872–99" (229–231), "A.4 Syndication of the novels of M. E. Braddon" (232–237), "A.5 Syndication of the Novels of Wilkie Collins" (238–240) and information within the text on Farjeon's "No. 119 Great Porter Square" (75–76). The exception is for authors preceded by "%", for which information is drawn from Turner.

NB. While Law refers to the date of serialization in Britain, Turner identifies contract dates. This difference explains why the duration between the dates of British and Australian publication is greater for titles identified by Turner.

NB. A number of the below titles also appeared in other Australian newspapers at later dates. But I have only listed instances within a year or two of the Tillotson's syndication date.

* Early titles identified by Law where Tillotson's did not arrange colonial publication

$ Fiction classified by Law as "expensive"

Title also published in Express and Telegraph (digitized by Trove since harvest completed)

! Publication identified by Johnson-Woods, Index
